Week 10 was pretty good despite a terrible performance by the Rams. I hope to put up another profitable week and get this season on track.

Let's get to the picks.

Niners at Jags

Details

SF -7

Total: 45

Jags +235 | Colts -301

The Niners completely destroyed LA on Monday night, it was their best performance of the season. This is the classic let down situation.

Trevor Lawrence is showing improvement. After a terrible start he's protecting the ball first and starting to take what the opposing defenses are giving him.

San Francisco is ranked highly on defense, but they only rank 30 in pressure rate. Lawrence can do some damage when he has time and I'm betting he'll put some points up today.

Last week I mentioned the Jax defense has been playing well and they were good against Indy. I think the Niners offense will have it's hands full and find themselves in a close game.

The Pick: Jags +7

Texans at Titans

Details

Titans -10

Total: 44½

Texans +350 | Titan -470

This line seems like an over-reaction to the Titans injury situation and Houston coming off a bye. I got the Titans winning probability at around 80%. Winning is one thing covering 10 points is another.

Obviously, Houston is not good. They had some fight early in the season, but I think they'll get rolled today. Tennessee is physically tough and they'll dominate the trenches.

The Pick: Titans -10

Cowboys at Chiefs

Details

Chiefs -2½

Total: 56

Chiefs -140 | Cowboys +120

I think this is a huge game for both teams. A dominant win by either side could easily send both teams in opposite directions. A big win by Dallas could be the breaking point for a shaky Chief season. Conversely, a blowout loss might bring Dallas down to earth.

I suspect Dallas will be tight. This is their biggest game in a long time. I also think KC isn't the team they once were. So the expected shootout may get off to a slow start.

There will be some wind at Arrowhead, which is definitely a concern in the passing game. Dallas is also susceptible to special teams penalties, which kill field position.

The Pick: Under 56

Prop Sheet

Props are all about value. Here's a list of prop bets I think offer the greatest value.

- A Rodgers over 2½ TD passes (+155)
- T Brady over ½ rush yds (-120)
- D Cook under 2½ receptions (+140)
- M Ingram under 3½ receptions (+110)
- K Golladay under 3½ receptions (+126)

- C Uzomah under 2½ receptions (+135)
- M Valdes Scantling under 2½ receptions (+135)
- A Dillon under 3½ receptions (+120)
- M Andrews under 3½ receptions (+160)
- C Wilson under 2½ receptions (+130)
